Khulisa's focus on the diversity and expertise of our staff, consultants and interns have enabled us to pioneer projects in M&E.

In October 2015, to celebrate Khulisa's 22nd birthday, we opened an international office in Washington DC, expanding our global reach.

Dr Mark Bardini, Senior Vice President, M&E and US Operations, heads up Khulisa's DC Office.

Khulisa supports EvalYear

Since 2004, Khulisa has played a prominent role in building evaluation capacity and promoting the evaluation profession.

We actively participate at board level with the International Organisation for Cooperation in Evaluation (IOCE), the African Evaluation Association (AfrEA), and EvalPartners. Khulisa is playing a leading role in the Global Evaluation Forum which is planning for EvalVision 20/20 – the final celebration of the 2015 International Year of Evaluation.

Since 2012, half of our work is in the Health Sector. Khulisa conducted 9 evaluations, and 1622 data quality assessments (DQAs) for 294 organisations, spanning 10 African countries

Khulisa has successfully ventured into the Agriculture Sector with projects such as Farmer Voice Radio and the World Food Programme Nutrition Evaluation. The Department of Planning, Monitoring and Evaluation (DPME) recently appointed Khulisa to do a Diagnostic Evaluation of the Government Supported Small Holder Farmer Sector.

Khulisa has worked in the Education Sector since 1993. Since 2012, we have conducted 7 education evaluations for clients such as UNICEF, UNESCO, and various Foundations. We are conducting an Impact Evaluation of Early Language Literacy for USAID's Southern Africa's School Capacity & Innovation Programme.

Youth, at 60% of Africa's total population, will play a prominent role in the continent's future. In the Youth and Economic Growth Sector, Khulisa is part of the worldwide USAID Making Cents Youth Power project; and currently developing the youth M&E framework for USAID/Nigeria.

Khulisa applies various technologies in the Business Intelligence and Data Visualisation Sector to develop state-of-the-art M&E systems. Through the Grant Management Solutions (GMS) project we are currently providing dashboard support to Global Fund grantees in South Africa and Zimbabwe.

Khulisa continues to expand our work in Other Sectors, including media, security, radio, ICT and international law.
